Subject: MGOI Newsletter Archive

Many thanks to Avalon Hamlin for sending old copies of the MGOI newsletters to us. She is continuing to send them and I'll be adding them to the website, here:

<http://mgoi.ca/news/newsletterarchive.html>

Some of the newsletters are scanned and appear on devoted photo album pages. These are .jpg files and may have to be expanded to read.

We're looking forward to more copies coming to us. Again, many, many thanks to Avalon.

President's Corner – The Inside Scoop!

Coordinators' Conference 2016

There was a wonderful vibe at this year's Coordinators' Conference! The day started with delicious treats prepared by Shirley Novak, Halton Master Gardeners. Registrar Anja Lowrance, Simcoe County, greeted everyone with a draw ticket and agenda.

Kelly Noel, Communications Director, distributed the revised version of the Coordinators' Handbook, printed on one side only so that pages can easily be printed out and replaced if changes are made.

Anja and Kelly made a great team!

Twenty-five out of 31 groups were present in the room, including – for the first time ever – a Coordinator “virtually” present! Pam Dallaire (Cochrane District MGs) joined us via video conference from Smooth Rock Falls.

Here's Cochrane District coordinator “virtual” Pam Dallaire in attendance at Suzanne's presentation!

The opening quiz and the AGM ran smoothly, and the first presenters were introduced.

Nancy McDonald (Ottawa-Carleton) and Maureen Hulbert (Toronto) facilitated a discussion about the results of a resource sharing survey. There was general agreement that sharing resources would benefit all groups; several people volunteered to help make this a reality. Everyone was impressed with the energy and enthusiasm in the room!

I attended the breakout session on leadership – seemed like a good fit for me! Suzanne Zacharczyk (Etobicoke) impressed me with her quick and knowledgeable replies to all questions. I was glad to learn that leaders aren't necessarily always Genghis Khan or Mary Poppins. A good leader adapts to the situation and can use different styles depending on the factors at hand – a kind of Genghis Poppins!

“Resource Sharing” generated a lot of enthusiasm!

Before lunch, groups divided into their regions and met their new Regional Directors. These meetings proved very useful, helping groups to make connections and discuss concerns. It was interesting to note that regions shared similar issues. The ‘Northern Caucus’ has groups with geographic limitations that make meetings challenging. The South-West has many small groups that have difficulty meeting their many requests for support from the public. And the Central region has large groups that sometimes have too few requests for the large number of members.

The “True North” region meets with “virtual” Pam, on the counter.

A follow up survey was sent to groups after the conference. Ninety-seven percent of respondents felt the AGM ran smoothly. One hundred percent reported they were very pleased that the Board supports the groups by providing bookmarks, recruitment kits and the opportunity to order MG clothing. And 100% also reported that the conference was interesting and well organized. That kind of feedback will be hard to beat next year!

Presentations and supporting documents from all sessions will be posted on the Coordinators' Conference & AGM tab of the MGOI website for easy reference.

Master Gardener in Training Forum: Overview

Connecting Master Gardeners in Training

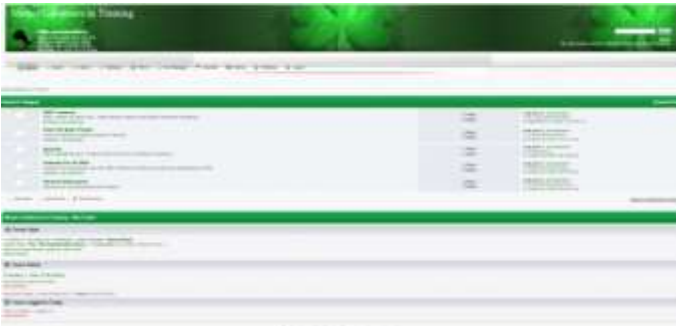

<http://mgit.createaforum.com/index.php>

The “Master Gardener in Training Forum” (MGiT Forum) is a mentoring service run by the Cochrane District Master Gardeners (CDMG) group.

The forum is currently run by the coordinator, Pamela Dallaire, but the group hopes to expand the service by introducing it to all groups within MGOI. Members willing to assist in the mentoring of any Master Gardener in Training can register and start answering questions asked by students.

The role of the forum is as follows:

- Help Master Gardeners in Training to make personal connections with other members in MGOI
- Reduce the workload of individual mentors by spreading the responsibility of mentoring to all members of MGOI
- Bring MGOI mentoring into the digital age

Categories and Threads

Discussions are divided into Categories and Threads (individual discussions). For example, under General Category are included:

- MGIT Lessons
- Plant ID Basic Plants
- Quizzes
- Lessons for all MGs.

Anyone registered on the forum can start a Discussion Thread under a specific category.

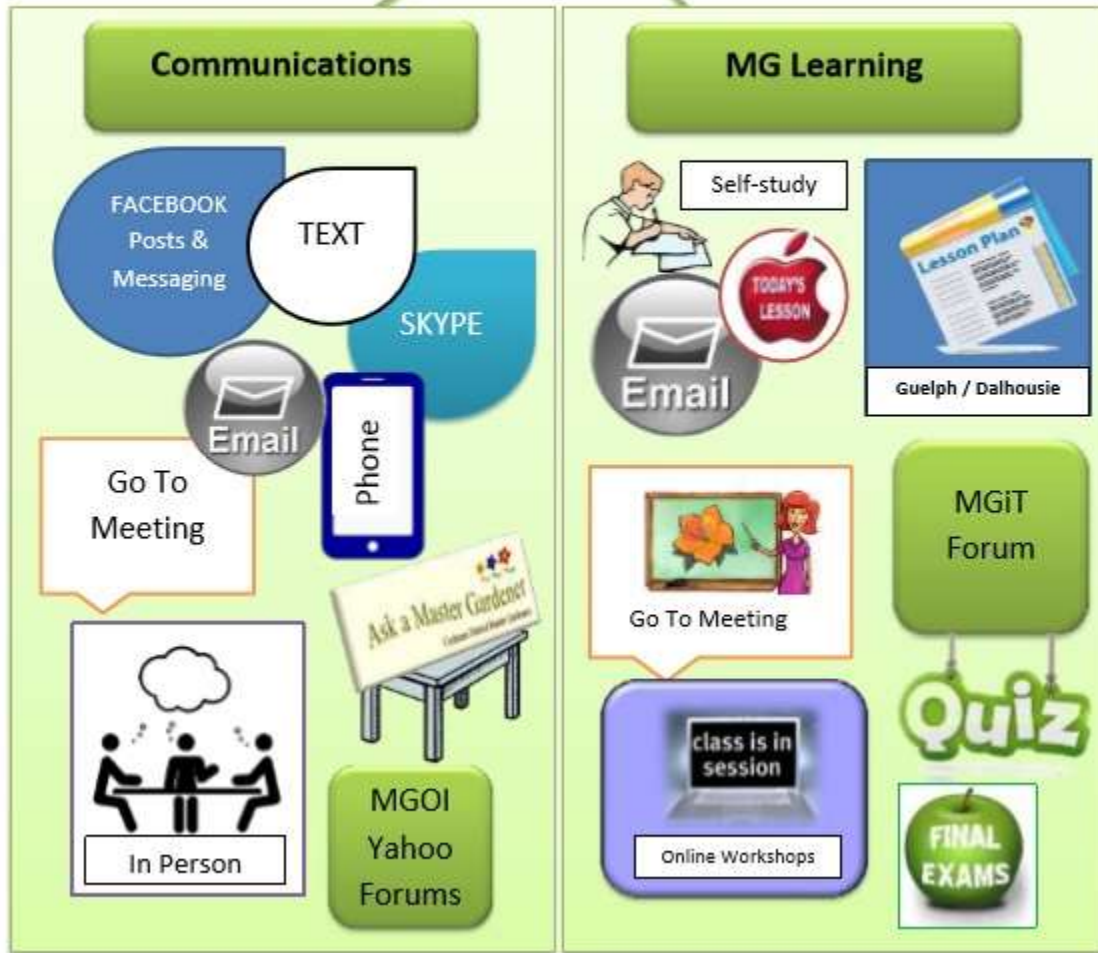

How is the Forum Used?

The MGIT Forum is just one tool used by the CDMG mentors and Master Gardeners in Training, allowing mentoring over large geographical areas. By connecting online, discussions can occur at times convenient to both student and mentor.

With the prevalence of Cell Phone texting, iPad use, and new technologies, the CDMG group hope that the Forum will encourage younger people to join MGOI and become the new generation of Master Gardeners. The MGIT Forum is just one step in that direction.
